

INSTITUTE FOR URBAN RESILIENCE

scaling up human resources for urban disaster risk reduction

BE AN IUR PARTNER

The Institute for Urban Resilience (IUR) is EMI's new initiative aimed at building the human resources needed to respond to the increasing threat of natural hazards on our cities and communities.

GOLD
US$ 10,000

As a Gold City Partner of the Institute, you will have the following benefits:

- Access up to EMI's ten (10) online courses and enroll a maximum of 20 staff per year in as many as four (4) courses, for example, the Gold Partner can register 5 staff members in 4 courses in a year;
- Free participation to all webinars offered as part of the yearly activities;
- Waived registration to participate in all IUR events for networking and knowledge sharing;
- Access to EMI experts for up to 40 hours of free consulting support on urban resilience, emergency management and other DRM-related fields;
- Free promotion of the Partner's events; and
- Regular information on global opportunities for partners related to urban resilience and DRM (e.g., funding opportunities, partnership opportunities, major international events, etc.)

As a Silver City Partner of the Institute, you will have the following benefits:

- Access up to EMI's ten (10) online course runs for a maximum of 10 people per year (up to 4 per courses);
- Free participation to all webinars offered as part of the yearly activities;
- Waived registration to participate in all IUR events for networking and knowledge sharing;
- Access to EMI experts for up to 24 hours of free consulting support on urban resilience, emergency management and other DRM-related fields;
- Free promotion of the Partner's events; and
- Regular information on global opportunities for partners related to urban resilience and DRM

SILVER
US$5,000

Connect to a network of DRM experts
Be a part of a community of DRM practitioners
Build competence in DRM practice

IUR PROGRAMS & ACTIVITIES

VISION

To be a globally recognized contributor to urban resilience through training, knowledge sharing and information dissemination

MISSION

To develop a community of competent DRM practitioners striving for accomplishments and driving the global urban resilience agenda

ABOUT THE IUR

The Institute for Urban Resilience (IUR) stems from EMI's conviction that the lack of competent human resources is one of the biggest impediments to achieving tangible progress in disaster risk management (DRM) and in building resilient cities and communities. As part of its 10th year anniversary, EMI established the IUR to build the capacity of urban DRM practitioners by equipping them with adequate knowledge, skills, and tools to become competent DRR practitioners. The IUR intends to accomplish its goals through partnerships and networking where knowledge mechanisms and knowledge opportunities can be scaled up. IUR will bring together potential partners such as national and local government institutions, civil society organizations, professional groups, development agencies, donors, and other stakeholders to work together towards the common goal of improving competency and building human resources for DRR.

www.emi-megacities.org

- 2F, Puno Annex Building
#47 Kalayaan Avenue
Diliman, Quezon City, Philippines 1101
- +63 2 433-4074 ; +63 2 927-9643
- Like us on Facebook:
www.facebook.com/emi.megacities
- Follow us:
@emimegacities